

SOUTHEASTERN ARCHAEOLOGICAL CONFERENCE BUSINESS MEETING 2020

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS

Andrea Lee Novick (excerpted from SAA Archaeological Record, November 2020)

Whereas, Lee Novick began her interest in archaeology with a childhood trip to Mesa Verde, and worked as a high school volunteer for three summers in the Delaware River Valley; and

Whereas, Lee earned degrees in anthropology and archaeology from the University of Minnesota, the University of Arkansas, and Washington State University, while developing her skills in lithic analysis and in curation; and

Whereas, Lee worked for Commonwealth Associates, the SC Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology, the NC Department of Transportation, and the NC Office of State Archaeology, and contributed significantly to the governance of the Society of the Professional Archaeologists and facilitated its transformation into the Register of Professional Archaeologists (RPA); and

Whereas, Lee contributed to numerous publications in North and South Carolina, expanding our understanding of lithic resources and technology in the southeast; then

Therefore, be it resolved that the members of the Southeastern Archaeological Conference express their sympathy to Lee's partner, Whit, and family, and to her friends, and honor her contributions to archaeology.
