SEAC 2006

November is almost here and with it the annual Southeastern Archaeological Conference meetings. This year we will return to Little Rock on November 8 to the 11. There is a big change to the program this year; the usual Thursday Night Reception has been moved to Wednesday night. The reception will take place at the Old State House Museum on Wednesday from 7pm to 9pm. On Thursday there will be a SEAC Student Reception from 5:30pm to 6:30pm, look for details when you arrive at the hotel. The SEAC Dance will be held on Friday night from 9pm until midnight and feature the music of the Big John Miller Band.

A new addition to the program this year is the SEAC Film Forum. Organized by John Blitz, Claire Nanfro, and Casey Barrier the program will feature 12 films. The films range in age and topics from the Shell Mounds in the Tennessee Valley (1936) to The Shovel Bum's Lot (2005). Be sure to attend one of the sessions on either Friday morning from 8:00am to 11:50am, or again on Friday afternoon from 1:00pm to 4:50pm.

The Student Affairs Committee is organizing a student workshop and reception for the 2006 Annual Meeting in Little Rock. The workshop is scheduled for Thursday afternoon and is entitled Developing and Delivering Effective Presentations: Tips for Papers, Posters, and PowerPoint. It is designed to help students improve their written, oral, and visual presentation skills. Dr. Charles Cobb, Dr. Tanya Peres, Dr. Christopher Rodning, and Dr. Gregory Wilson will offer advice about every aspect of presenting, from submitting a title and abstract to what to do with your research after the presentation is over. And you certainly won't want to miss Dr. Victor Thompson's comments about the Student Paper Competition! Afterwards, please plan to join us at the Student Reception for light refreshments and the opportunity to mingle with other students and professionals.

Finally, this year's meeting will wrap with a Saturday afternoon Barbecue and Catfish dinner at Toltec Mounds Archaeological State Park. The barbecue will begin at 2:30pm with a cost of $20. Be sure to add your name to the guest list soon.

For a full preliminary program please see page 8.

Current Research

North Carolina

As part of a partnership agreement between the Office of State Archaeology (OSA) and the North Carolina Division of Historic Sites and Properties, this past Spring archaeologists "looked homeward" to the late 19th/early 20th century childhood home of noted author Thomas Wolfe in Asheville. At the OSA Research Center in Raleigh, under the direction of Dr. Billy L. Oliver, archaeologists Tom Beaman, Nick Jarman, Joy Shattuck, and Amanda Bullman; along with dozens of volunteers from the Coe Foundation for Archaeological Research, plus local high school and college students, worked to bring the 47,168 archaeological artifacts from the Thomas Wolfe Memorial State Historic Site "home again". An updated inventory based on individual projects was created and the whole collection was upgraded to modern archival standards. A most impressive feature of the collection were the 9521 whole and partial bottle fragments excavated in sound context from the house cistern. A total of 1464 individual bottles were identified and classified by function from the collection. A copy of the report on the artifact project and digitization of the associated field records is available for download (.pdf format) from www.coe-foundation.org. Concurrent efforts by Scott Schumate of ASULAS resulted in the development of a management plan for any future planned or needed archaeological research at the site.

ECU archaeologists under the direction of Charles Ewen have begun a systematic survey of Bath, North Carolina. The primary research goal for this project is to archaeologically survey and test as much of the original area of Bath Town as possible. Historic accounts of Bath during the 18th century describe Bath as a small settlement with barely a dozen families. Yet, early 18th century maps indicate as many as 71 lots in the town, most identified with a specific owner. This survey will help determine which lots were occupied and whether archaeological deposits are intact or were disturbed by later activity. In addition to extending the ongoing archeological survey of Bath, project objectives include documenting the archaeological survey and excavations on digital video. Current plans are to make the digital video archives available to the general public via the internet; while visitors to Bath will be able to view the archives via podcasts at the Visitor's Center.

Dr. Irwin Rovner (CEO, Binary Analytical Consultants, Raleigh) is conducting ongoing research in the development and applications of sophisticated, computer-assisted measurement techniques (i.e. "morphometry") to the study of artifacts and associated materials. Most recently, a new method of measuring size variation patterns in seed populations has been developed that distinguishes wild from domesticated seed taxa. This can be applied to the study of the origins and/or existence of seed crop domestication, notably in eastern plants such as sunflower, goosefoot, marsh elder, etc., which may or may not have been domesticated by native peoples. A method for characterizing the shapes of ceramic rim sherd profiles using mathematical geometry is being tested. If successful, it will allow classification of ceramic types based on objective measurements of rim sherd profiles rather than through more subjective, "eyeball" comparisons. Recent studies also include projectile point morphology and classification, consistency of size and shape in musket ball manufacturing, measurement of size and shape of deterioration in architectural features (e.g., cracks in walls), quantity of microscopic impurities in metals, among others. Such measuring techniques can be applied to virtually the entire range of archaeological materials.

Panamerican Consultants, Inc. (PCI) is soon to celebrate our first anniversary in North Carolina! Ramie Gougeon has found no better way to celebrate than by clearing the decks of old projects! We are currently wrapping up reports for work performed for the Corps of Engineers, Wilmington District, at Camp Lejeune and W. Kerr Scott Lake and preparing for new projects. This summer, PCI archaeologists completed Phase III level fieldwork at two sites on Falls Lake. Analyses of these interesting but rather meager assemblages are on going, and a draft report will be submitted in October. Mr. Jasen McSwain will present a summary of one of these sites this year's SEAC Conference in Little Rock. Our survey of the historic settlement of Fish Dam Ford at Falls Lake has been postponed as the area is still inundated. We hope to visit this site later this fall when lake levels are typically at their lowest.

Finally, Tar River Archaeological Research has recently conducted investigations in Currituck, Chowan, and Wilson counties. In May, Tom Beaman and Nick Jarman tested the front of in the extant 1850s jail in Currituck for period features prior to the building's restoration. The WPA landscaping of the property during the 1930s had unfortunately disturbed this area and little intact evidence was located. An adjacent city-owned property was also evaluated as a potential site of the early 18th-century courthouse, though no evidence of this structure was apparent. In June, Beaman and Joan Joyner conducted extensive compliance testing of residential lot north of Edenton at Chowan Beach. This lot was part of 31Co1, an extensive shell midden site that spans several miles along the Chowan River. In the southernmost area of the site to be explored, this investigation yielded thousands of prehistoric ceramics from all phases of Woodland occupation yet virtually no lithic debris. Also discovered was a small, 5.5 foot square brick foundation of an 18th-century outbuilding that may predate historic Bandon plantation by as much as 50 years, but no evidence of a main dwelling or other structures. In Wilson County, Beaman is nearing completion of a year-long search for sites associated with the Tuscarora community of Toisnot. Graciously funded by the Wilson County Sesquicentennial Committee, by using a predictive model developed by John Byrd and Charles Heath on the lower Contentnea Creek Tuscarora communities, to date seven such sites have been identified with more potential areas to evaluate. Several local collectors have also played a major role in this project by their willingness to share their collections with Beaman. This has resulted in the recordation of additional sites, including a Revolutionary War era British campsite and two different locations where fluted Paleo-Indian points were found.

Tennessee

Kristine Lilja-King is continuing her PhD research at the University of Memphis on Paleoindian lithic technology systems. Lilja-King recently applied for a National Science Foundation grant to identify lithic sources in the Lower Buffalo and Duck River Basins. Middle Tennessee State University completed the second season of fieldwork at the Mississippian town known to archaeologists as Castalian Springs. Highlights of the excavations include the identification of a giant wall-trench public building and a subterranean circular structure of unknown function.

Drew Buchner and Eric Albertson of Panamerican Consultants, Inc. Memphis office report the completion of two significant projects for the Tennessee Department of Transportation. These include data recovery excavations at the Johnson-May (40GL85) and Parker's Pasture (40GL25) sites in Giles County and a 3,000 plus acre survey on the Cumberland Plateau. A final report is now available on the data recovery excavations, which includes specialized contributions by Emanuel Breitbart (faunal analysis), Gary Crites (archaeobotanical analysis), and Robert Parr (protein residue analysis). The Johnson-May site is a Middle Woodland occupation radiocarbon dated to the period between A.D. 250 and 625, while Parker's Pasture contained a series of Mississippian occupations, as well as an Archaic period Benton cremation burial. Eric Albertson directed an intensive survey of 25 miles of alternatives for US 127 on the Cumberland Plateau north of Crossville, Tennessee. They revisited 12 previously recorded sites and identified 26 new sites spanning the breadth of Southeastern prehistory. Sites types found included open habitations, rockshelters, and caves.

SEAC State Contacts

The following are state contacts for the SEAC Newsletter. If you have any current research you would like in the newsletter please contact your state representative. Be sure to check with them about Spring and Fall deadlines. Don't see a contact for your state? That means were looking for one, so why not volunteer?

SEAC Student Affairs Committee News

by Theresa McReynolds, Casey Barrier, David Cranford, and Claire Nanfro
Student Website and Listserv

The SEAC student website has been updated and improved! It also has a new location: <http://www.ou.edu/seacstudent/>. The website contains information for students at any stage, with topics ranging from applying to graduate programs to giving job talks. Check out the grants section for some recent additions and consider posting a description of your current project to recruit volunteers, share ideas, or solicit advice.

In addition to the website, the SEAC Student Affairs Committee maintains a student listserv. Important deadlines, grant opportunities, and other news items of interest to students are announced through the listserv. Contact Theresa McReynolds (temcre@email.unc.edu) if you'd like to be added.

Get Involved!

We need your help! The SEAC Student Affairs Committee is currently seeking volunteers to serve as representatives for their schools. Representatives share SEAC news with their departmental colleagues several times a year. If you'd like to become a representative for your school, please contact Theresa McReynolds (temcre@email.unc.edu).

Report on SEAC Public Outreach Grant

by Mary L. Kwas, Chair

In order to promote public awareness of archaeology in the Southeast, SEAC supports a program of small grants to finance public outreach projects. SEAC provides a $2,000 grant award per year to an applicant through a competitive application process.

This year, the 2006 grant went to the Louisiana Southwest Regional Archaeologist and the Louisiana Office of State Parks to update the exhibits at the Marksville State Historic Site. A total of six new exhibits have been created for the Marksville museum. Three exhibits focus on the new paintings of the site created by artist Martin Pate, one exhibit illustrates the astronomical and mathematical principles used in structuring the site plan, one exhibit examines the WPA-era archaeology in the state, and the final new exhibit introduces the State's new Mound Heritage Driving Trail across northeastern Louisiana. In addition, the grant funds have allowed the staff to update the text and information content of an additional 15 existing exhibits. The grant has created the opportunity to completely reorganize the exhibit sequence at the Museum. When completed, the new exhibits and updated information will provide a greatly enhanced informational and educational experience for the park visitor.

Applications are now being accepted for the 2007 grant. Information and requirements of the grant application can be found on the inside back cover of the current issue of Southeastern Archaeology, and on the SEAC web site. The committee prefers that applications be sent by email. Deadline for receipt of applications is December 1. Please be aware that December 1 is a received by deadline, not a postmark deadline. Applicants are responsible for using whatever means necessary to see that their applications arrive no later than December 1.

The Dienje Kenyon Fellowship

A fellowship in honor of the late Dienje M. E. Kenyon is offered through the Society for American Archaeology to support the research of women archaeologists in the early stages of their graduate training. The award, of $500, will be made to a student pursuing research in Zooarchaeology, which was Kenyon's specialty. To qualify for the award, applicants must be enrolled in a graduate degree program focusing on Archaeology with the intention of receiving either the M.A. or Ph.D. on a topic related to Zooarchaeology, and must be in the first two years of graduate studies. Applications are to consist of :

1. a statement of proposed research related to Zooarchaeology, toward the conduct of which the award would be applied, of no more than 1500 words, including a brief statement indicating how the award would be spent in support of that research;
2. a curriculum vitae; and
3. two letters of support from individuals familiar with the applicant's work and research potential. One of these letters must be from the student's primary advisor, and must indicate the year in which the applicant began graduate studies. Strong preference will be given to students working with faculty members with zooarchaeological expertise.

Applications must be sent via email, as an attachment in Microsoft Word, are due no later than January 6, 2007, and are to be sent to : Dr. A. Burke, Anthropologie, Université de Montréal. Email : a.burke@umontreal.ca

OLD BUSINESS

SHA Newsletter Editor

As announced in the Summer SHA Newsletter, the Society for Historical Archaeology is currently seeking qualified candidates for the volunteer position of Newsletter Editor, succeeding the incumbent William B. Lees in January 2008. SHA President Douglas Scott has appointed Vergil E. Noble to chair a search committee, which includes the following members: Kelly J. Dixon, Charles R. Ewen, William B. Lees, and Thad Van Bueren. Initial expressions of interest should be conveyed to the chair by October 31, 2006, and all materials in support of the application should be submitted by November 15, in order to permit the search committee to conduct preliminary telephone interviews with leading candidates prior to the annual conference at Williamsburg. The committee, however, will continue to consider additional applications until a designee is selected by appointment of the SHA Board of Directors no later than June 2007.

Please contact Newsletter Editor Search Committee Chair Vergil Noble to express interest in the position and obtain additional information. Telephone: 402-437-5392, ext. 108. Email: vergil\_noble@nps.gov. Prospective candidates must be SHA members in good standing. Prior editorial experience is preferred.

SECRETARY'S ANNUAL REPORT — CLAUDINE PAYNE, SECRETARY

MINUTES OF THE 2006 SEAC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MID-YEAR MEETING

The 2006 spring meeting of the Executive Committee of the Southeastern Archaeological Conference was called to order by President John O'Hear on April 26, 2006 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. In attendance were Steve Davis, Gayle Fritz, Eugene Futato, T.R. Kidder, Theresa McReynolds, Rob Moon, Maureen Meyers, Rebecca Saunders, John Scarry, Margaret Scarry, Keith Stephenson, Gerald Schroedl, and Renee Walker.

Reports of Officers

Secretary's Report. Secretary Claudine Payne could not attend. The minutes of the last Executive Committee meeting were provided to the committee by email. Maureen Meyers moved that the minutes be accepted. The motion passed. Secretary-Elect Becky Saunders graciously agreed to take the minutes for this meeting and prepare preliminary minutes for Claudine.

Treasurer's Report. Treasurer Keith Stephenson presented the Treasurer's Report as follows.

SEAC continues in sound financial health with few changes since the FY 2005 end of the year report. The balance of the Merrill Lynch EMA Working Fund as of March 31 was $100,041.06. The current balance for long-term investments in the Working Fund is $24,338.88. The interest generated from these term investments is not reinvested into the interest account, but deposited directly into the EMA Working Fund account as cash. This currently leaves $75,011.12 in the Working Fund account as available cash.

The current total of 2006 memberships paid stands at 757. A year ago at this time we had 645 memberships paid, so we are well ahead of last year's numbers. Hopefully, this trend will translate into an overall increase in membership levels for the year. Another dues notice will go out with the upcoming newsletter and a third mailing will be sent out around mid-summer. Members can pay their 2006 dues anytime online through SPORG with a credit card.

Editor's Report. Co-editors Gayle Fritz and T.R. Kidder. T.R. reported that the journal was in very good shape. Lynne Sullivan turned over the editorship with two volumes ready to go. Twelve book reviews are at the copy editor (Lynne hired a free-lance copy editor which makes the journal editor job much easier). Publication of volume 25(1), overseen by T.R., will probably be out in mid to late July. T.R. and Gayle will split the editorship with each taking one issue, and each handling every other submission.

Gayle reported on volume 25(2). The journal issue, which consists of a series of papers put together by Tom Emerson, is a compendium of papers covering the Archaeology of the American Bottom. The journal will be very long and may need a subvention for printing costs.

T.R. reported that turn around time for papers is reasonably short; the hold-up is getting the manuscripts back from outside reviewers. At present, with two full volumes, publication of new manuscripts will require a minimum of a full year and possibly 18 months (for comparison, SAA is now turning some papers around in six months). So, being comfortably ahead in terms of filling journals is something of a double-edged sword, because it slows turnaround time. Discussion ensued on the topic of long turn-around.

There was also a discussion about the cost of longer-than-usual journal volumes. It was agreed that, given SEAC's rosy financial situation, any extra cost for longer volumes could be absorbed. T.R. noted that length could also be controlled by the number of book reviews.

President John commended Eugene Futato on his job with the back issues and noted his long and distinguished service in this capacity.

Reports of Standing Committees

Investment and Finance Committee. (Chair Paul Welch; Lynne Sullivan; Al Goodyear) Paul Welch was not in attendance, but President John presented his report which is as follows.

The table below shows the market value of our Life Fund accounts as of 21 April 2006. The total value, $103,598.04, is up $11,681.61 from 31 Oct 05, a gain of 12.7% in the 6-month period. There were no new Life memberships during the period; all the growth comes from earnings on investments. All of the investments have gained, though they have not gained evenly. The Index 500 investment is drifting lower than our target allocation of 62%, and the International Growth investment is drifting higher than the target. The departures from target are not yet large enough to warrant action, but if the trends continue through the summer we probably should rebalance the portfolio in the fall (as we did this past fall).

Fund	Fund Totals	% of invested	target
Index 500	$59,285.38	58.5%	62.0%
International Growth	12,754.10	13.6%	12.0%
Small Cap Index	13,079.85	12.9%	12.0%
Health Care	7,979.03	7.9%	8.0%
REIT Index	7,210.67	7.1%	6.0%
	$101,309.03	100.0%
Prime Money Market	$2,289.01
	$103,598.04

Nominations Committee Report. (Jeff Mitchem, Chair; Tony Boudreaux; Ann Tippitt) President O'Hear reported that he had appointed a Nominations Committee for 2006. Board positions to be filled are President-Elect, Treasurer-Elect, and Executive Officer 2. Current Executive Officer 2 Gerald Schroedl will be rotating off the Board.

Student Affairs Committee Report. (Theresa McReynolds, Chair; Casey Barrier, David Cranford; Claire Nanfro; Gerald Schroedl, Board Liaison) Chair Theresa presented the report. She has recruited several new members for the committee. David Cranford is taking over student web page. The committee took on the task of planning a student workshop for the annual meeting. Theresa noted that many students are either not coming to the meeting or are using cheaper hotels. A suggestion was made to list alternative hotels in the Meeting announcements. A discussion ensued regarding the need for SEAC to meet the agreed-upon hotel room block; that is, if we do not fill the agreed-upon room block in the conference hotel, there are expensive penalties. In addition, the room block agreement is instrumental in getting the use of the conference rooms for free. Board members suggested the use of the student web site to help students to find roommates in the conference hotel. In this vein, it was noted that some societies, e.g., Ethnohistory, pay for student travel. Discussion ensued on this topic, and President John agreed to find out how Ethnohistory handles their student travel program.

Student Paper Competition Committee

(Renee Walker, Chair; Rich Weinstein; Marvin Smith) Chair Renee presented the report. The new 2nd prize, instituted because the high quality of recent entries make a clear winner difficult to choose, consists of a lifetime membership to SEAC and includes back issues. The 2nd prize will be announced in the newsletter and on the student web page. There was discussion about a separate entry in the program for all student entries. Entries in the 2005 competition were noted in the program, but they were embedded within it. The Board encouraged meeting organizers to create a separate page in the program for Student Paper Competition entries so that interested folks could find the student papers more easily.

Lifetime Achievement Award Committee.

(David Hally, Chair; Ian Brown; Bill Marquardt) President O'Hear reported appointing a new committee. He also encouraged the membership to submit nominations.

Native American Liaison Committee.

(Kent Reilly, Chair; Brett Riggs) President John reports no news from the Committee.

Public Outreach Committee.

(Mary Kwas, Chair; Rita Elliot; Thomas Foster; Claudine Payne, Board Liaison) President O'Hear reported that the Committee recommended Illustrations of the Marksville Site as this year's recipient of the Public Outreach grant. The board accepted the recommendation of the committee.

Other Old Business

Upcoming annual meeting updates.

President John summarized reports on future meetings. Arrangements are complete for the hotel, the band, and the reception at the 2006 annual meeting in Little Rock. Preparations are proceeding for Knoxville in 2007. For 2008 and beyond, we do not yet have formal offers to host the meeting. Discussion ensued regarding a venue.

NEW BUSINESS

President John brought up a request by SRI to "piggyback" a $175-tuition CRM workshop with the next SEAC annual meeting. A discussion ensued about the implications of this request. John noted that it was still unclear how SRI wants this association to work. T.R. suggested that John ask SRI for a formal proposal detailing exactly what SRI wants in terms of this association. It was generally agreed that SEAC should not be viewed as endorsing workshops that involve tuition, although we would be happy to accept a paid advertisement for the workshop in the journal or newsletter. John agreed to draft a reply to SRI and to circulate it to the Executive Committee.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Claudine Payne, Secretary
